

AFRICAN DISSERTATION SERIES

AFRICAN POPULATION STUDIES VOL 25

CALL FOR DISSERTATION MANUSCRIPTS

Union for African Population Studies is launching African Dissertation Programme to enable young scholars in African academic and research institutions to get their doctoral and masters dissertations translated into publishable Journal articles.

To this end, African Population Studies Journal invites young African scholars, researchers, junior faculties in African Universities and Research entities to submit manuscripts based on their PhD or advanced Masters degree dissertations. Manuscripts must be devoted to issues of population and development in Africa. All dissertation manuscripts will be peer-reviewed. Authors of manuscripts will be assisted in refining the quality of their manuscripts.

Submission Guidelines

- Manuscripts should be no more than fifteen to twenty double-spaced, typed pages in length, with not more than 5 tables and 5 graphs.
- Do not submit work that has been published elsewhere
- Submissions in English and French are welcome
- Please include with your manuscript a cover letter providing your name, address, supervisor of the thesis, year of graduation or about to graduate. Also include one to two sentences of your professional experience.

Dissertation Manuscripts should be submitted on-line via:

- Manuscripts should be submitted on-line via <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/apsj>
- Click on "Create Account" in the upper right corner
- Follow the instructions to create your account

Deadlines for submissions: This Special Volume is planned for December 2010. Hence submissions must be on or before September 30, 2010.

Clifford Odimegwu
Editor-in-Chief, African Population Studies
Email: editor@uaps-uepa.org